Listing of Claims:

Claim 1 (Currently Amended) A headrest for elevating a person's head to minimize pressure against the person's hair while the head is resting on the head rest, comprising:
a base pillow made of compressible foam material for resting on a supporting surface, the base pillow having a top surface of a selected area, a bottom surface and a selected thickness;
a head pillow made of compressible foam material and formed as a raised portion of ~~mounted on~~ the base pillow, the head pillow having a top surface of an area having an extent substantially the size of a person's head and substantially less than the top surface area of the base pillow upon which the person's head rests, and being positioned at a location on the base pillow spaced from a ~~at least~~ substantial portion of the periphery of the base pillow to define a free area on the top surface of the base pillow at an elevation less than that of the head pillow for receiving at least a substantial portion of the person's hair the free area extending both back beyond the head pillow and laterally of the base pillow to provide a space for the person's hair to occupy uncompressed by the head pillow.

Claim 2 (Original) The headrest of claim 1 further including a fabric covering positioned over at least the top surfaces of the base and head pillows.

Claim 3 (Currently Amended) The headrest of claim 2 wherein the fabric covering includes a removable outer slip of ~~relatively~~ smooth material and an inner slip of ~~relatively~~ course material, the outer slip having a pocket which receives the head pillow.

Claim 4 (Currently Amended) The headrest of claim 3 wherein the ~~relatively~~ course material is low thread count cotton and the outer slip material is ~~relatively~~ high-count cotton, satin, silk, or NYLON®.

Claim 5 (Original) The headrest of claim 3 wherein the inner slip is a permanent covering.

Claim 6 (Cancelled)

Claim 7 (Cancelled)

Claim 8 (Currently Amended) The headrest of claim 1 ~~7~~ wherein the base pillow is rectangular and the head pillow has a rectangular top surface.

Claim 9 (Currently Amended) The headrest of claim 1 wherein the base pillow is made of a first foam material and the head pillow is made of a first layer of ~~relatively~~ stiff foam positioned adjacent to the base pillow and a second layer of flexible foam near an upper most surface of the head pillow, which second layer is adjacent to a person's head during use of the headrest ~~more flexible foam adjacent to the person's head~~.

Claim 10 (Currently Amended) The headrest of claim 9 wherein both the base pillow and head pillow are made of single blocks of urethane foam of sufficient stiffness to retain a rectangular form.
